

VW will go in Formula 1

As reported worldcarfans.com, the Volkswagen group could race in Formula 1, if only the sport has become cheaper. That in this sport were cars with logos such as Skoda, costs, currently amounting to around 100 million a year, must still be reduced.

Reinhold Carl, Managing Director of the Singapore branch of the Audi, when asked by the newspaper Straits Times said that the costs would be lower, such a scenario would be possible. Sorry, no Jaguar, Honda and BMW in Formula 1 reduces the incentive of the VW to participate in this series. According to Carl, if there was that VW group decides to join the F1 teams, the team will wear the brand Porsche or Audi, and maybe even Volkswagen.
